

Children and Gaza's Clean Water Crisis

With Ziad Abbas

Sunday, March 13, 4:30 PM

Community Church, UCC, 17 Main St, Durham NH

A Palestinian Refugee and Director of the Middle East Children's Alliance (MECA), will share his first hand experiences with water in Palestine.

Palestinian children live under an economic blockade that has received growing criticism from the international community.

The growing water crisis in Palestine impacts agriculture, industry, and the health of virtually everyone.

The Student Parliament from the Bureij Refugee Camp in Gaza chose one item they most wanted for their school: *clean drinking water.

Ziad Abbas comes from Dheisheh Refugee camp in the West Bank, where he cofounded the Ibdaa Cultural Center and served as Co-Director from 1994 to 2008. He is now the Associate Director of the Middle East Children's Alliance based in Berkeley. Ziad is also a journalist and helped produce several documentary films.

Free and open to the public.

Sponsored by the Palestine Education Network, Seacoast Peace Response, UNH Peace and Justice League & NH Peace Action.
